GUTTENBURG RACE TRACK, Dec. 16 .-The fields in the races at Guttenburg to-day were rather light, but quality was well represented and the racing promised to be very interesting. The water had disappeared from the track, leaving it very pasty and The weather was clear and pleasant, and the attendance fully up to the average.

In the opening event, a dash of six furlongs for beaten horses, old Tattler was made the avorite. This was probably because he was the best class horse of the lot, and the talent xpected that class would carry the old berse through. A quiet tip on Bowery kept that horse's price well down. Jerquet and Adalgisa colt were well played.

result was a surprise. Menthol went parties and opening up a gap at the lengths in the first three furious asyed in front to the end, winning assity by two lengths from Jerquet, Adalgisa follows third. Jerquet delayed the start, hrowing his jeckey in one of his wiid plunges.

Early Blossom played with Greenwich in the second race. Young Flynn was content to let Greenwich make the pace, and when he got ready he cut loose in the stretch and won and were shown at once into Mr. Nicoll's private.

THE JURY HAS THE SIRE CASE. JOY OVER M'GLYNN.

To Bring In a Sealed Verdict Reconciliation News Said to Be Monday Morning.

Plaintiff Esther the Last Witness in the Famous Case.

The cross-examination of Defendant Henry B. Sire in the trial of the suit of interesting Esther Jacobs against him for $50,000 damages for trifling with her and making love: her, to the exclusion of several flattering en gagements as a concert singer, was continued to-day by Charles W. Brooke before Chief Judge Sedgwick, of the Supreme Court.

Miss Jacobs had testified with big, sad eyes and tremulous voice that she had been obliged to break her heart and her engage-ment with ner Henry because she discovered that he had an entanglement with another woman, and he had said he couldn't shake that other woman off.

The dark-faced, handsome and wealthy young real estate dealer, owner of Harry Vilkes and other crack horses, went Miss Esther one better. He owned up to Lawyer Brooke not only that his name was on the bell-pull of Lizzie Lavere's flat, 140 West terms of closest intimacy with her for eleven years, but that he had another dear female friend in a flat furnished by himself at 43 years, but that he had another dear female friend in a flat turnished by himself at 43 West Thirty-ninth street.

"No, the Thirty-sixth street and Thirty-ninth street ladies had not quarrelled as to which was Mrs. Henry B. Sire," the witness said, adding, as if in explanation:

"I haven't been to see the lady in Thirty-ninth street in two months."

Mr. Brooke asked a long line of questions calculated to show what pieces of real estate the alleged trifler owned. To most of the questions Mr. Sire replied:

"I es, I did own that, but I don't own it now."

A sheet of transcripts from the books in the Register's office, showing that some thirty odd pieces of property had been transferred to Henry B. Sire in 1877-78-78, was introduced, and the deiendant admitted that he had owned them all at one time or another.

Sire said be gave Esther $500 in January, 1888, for the purchase of a scalskin sacque. "She spoke of needing the sacque. We talked it over, and she said she thought she could get a pretty good one for between $400 and $500," stated Mr. Sire to the jury.

"Weil, well; but how did the subject first come up? Were you out riding?" asked Brooke.

"I think so, I think I said I should like her

They remained closeted with the Districtthey for some time. The object of Mr.

Egan's visit to Mr. Nicoll could not be learned, and much mystery surrounded the consultation.

One of the naval officers was Commander
W. S. Schley, who commanded the United States cruiser Baltimore at Valparaiso during the Chilian revolution, when salior Riggin, one of his crew, was murdered.

The party waited in District-Attorney Nicoll's office until Foreman Herman Oelrichs, of the Grand Jury came down from the Grand Jury room, and then held a lengthy consultation with him.

At 1.20 o'clock all left Mr. Nicoll's office, and District-Attorney Nicoll went to tunch.

No information could be gleaned as to the object of Minister Egan's visit.

When seen by an Evenisa World reporter
this atternoon District-Attorney Nicoll posttively refused to discuss the visit of Minister Egan, its object or significance.

"That will not come out yet," said the prosecuting attorney.

Purchasers of Dundee Race Track Made Up of Jersey Politicians.

LITTLE SILVER'S GOOD RAGE.

Jockey Horton's Claim Not Allowed-Favorites Buled at Both Tracks.

It has just leaked out that the syndidate which recently purchased the Dundee race track is made up of prominent Bergen County politicians. It is said that these gentlemen have strong hopes of having a racing bill passed in New Jersey this Winter, and in the event of this coming to pass Dundee will re-open as a full-fiedged rival to Guttenburg. The politicians interested are County Cierk Samuel Taylor, County Collector Isaac A. Hopper, ex-Sheriff Tunis A. Haring, William E. Taylor, John Ryan, Cornellus E. Eckerson and Cornelius J. Cadmus. If the bill falls to pass real estate property. The syndicate will no doubt learn that conducting a successful race-track is no child's play. Yet the track is very attractive, admirably situated as to railroad facilities and well appointed. The fact that the renaing meeting held there a couple of years ago proved a failure does not indicate that other meetings will meet the same fate.
